Spring Recess Of Public Schools To Last Until Apr. 2

Pt. Loma High Girls Start World War II Memorial

Point Loma high school, Dana Junior High and the Ocean Beach Elementary school, all will have one week of spring vacation next week, announces the city's board of education. The recess begins today (Friday) and will continue until the re-opening date of Monday, April 2.

This is the first time in two years that the local public schools will have a full week of Easter vacation, announces Dr. Will C. Crawford, the city schools superintendent. One result will be that the present school year will extend to June 15, he says.

At the high school attention is being concentrated on the following activities, according to this week's report of the news writer there for the Ocean Beach News:

A Memorial library to those Point Lomans who have given their lives in World War II is the excellent project now under way by the Girls' League at Point Loma high school, according to Lyra Lou Carothers, president. To establish a fund from which will be purchased a book with a book-plate of dedication the League is offering the play "Nine Girls", a prologue and two acts, April 5 at 3:00 p. m. in the Point Loma high auditorium.

The committee will find out the major subject or particular field of interest of each boy and a book dealing with that subject will be purchased. This memorial library will occupy a special place in the school library. Thus far those Lomans to whom the books will be dedicated are Jack Baum, '39; Tom Burger, '44; Wesley Carter, '35; Leslie Duvall, '37; Victor Durham, '43; George Ewing, '41; Lyman Gage, '41; Frank Guasti, '43; Ed Litten, '41; Mike Mendes, '41; George Mohr, '41; William Shropshire, '41; John Sigler, '41; Walter Tichenor, '37.

"Nine Girls" is a carnival of feminine fury and fun. It demonstrates again that the female species is more deadly than the male—nine times more! The public is invited to see this play with the charming cast including Shirley Thiverge, Marylyn Stevenson, Phyllis Brown, Marjorie Medina, Suzette Gerhauser, Maxine Prince, Lyra Lou Carothers, Gloria Alvarado and Rosamond Decker. Phyllis Monise is student director.

Claire Jones Wins
Vesta Robirds and Claire Jones, Point Loma seniors, appeared at the Pacific-Mission Beach Lion's club last week to present their original orations "What Parents Mean To Me." Claire Jones was unanimously judged to continue the contest. She will appear at the dinner-dance meeting of the Lion's club Saturday, March 24, San Diego Woman's club, where she will compete with Linda Vista, Grossmont, Hoover. Good luck, Claire!

Mrs. Ruth Barclay Called By Death

Funeral services were held Monday at 11 a. m. for Mrs. Ruth Barclay, 38, of 4685 Larkspur St., who passed away March 15, at Vaulchain Home. She was born in Illinois, but had lived in California 35 years and 33 years in San Diego and vicinity.

She is survived by her husband, Charles Barclay, and daughter, Evelyn Ruth, also two brothers, Fred H. Sexton of Long Beach and Lt. Col. Joseph N. Sexton, U. S. Army.

Scotty's Place To Open On Saturday

A new refreshment parlor to be known as Scotty's will be opened at 5008 Newport Saturday night this week by Arthur J. Cohrs and Fred "Scotty" McLeod, with the latter in charge. The room has been entirely remodeled, redecorated and all new equipment installed. Featuring the equipment is a 36-foot bar, 20 leather topped stools and Philippine mahogany for the mirror and wall panel back of the bar. A grill will be run in connection with the bar, reports "Scotty."

Red Cross Drive In Ocean Beach Is 'Over Top' By $400

With eight days yet to go in the 1945 campaign for Red Cross Ocean Beach is already $400 "over the top" of $4,075 that had been set as the quota for this community, Mrs. Morris Fried, chairman, reported this week. She paid special tribute to the following women who had assisted her in the drive and stated that donations are still coming in and that any person missed can leave contribution at the Fried store, 5010 Newport.

Mmes. R. J. Long, C. H. Woolley, Ella Smith, Dorothy Bell, Hilda Baker, A. A. Henry, Tom Plant, Miller, F. M. Colonus, M. Strauss, George Speer, Julia Steinman, Jean Young, D. Rogers, Geo. Stevenson, Paul Nutty, J. Swezey, Virginia Scott, Marian Kretzler, Bob Greer, Chas. Bidinger, Wyatt Ingram, George Burney, Bears, Lewis Putney, Thos. Clarkin, Geo. Lyman, Chas. Danielson, Vernon Gerhardt, Marshall, E. A. Kine-man, John Lamotte, Geo. Hart, Grubb, Calquhon, Lilley, Floyd Knudtson, Condron, Lloyd Davis, Rosenberry, G. Hunt, A. Mitchell, Harold Wright, E. Elardi, Dean McBride, Du Pree and F. H. Belloff.

C of C Directors Table Matter Of Health Insurance

Chamber of Commerce directors in session Tuesday evening at the Lowmes store discussed and decided to table without reaching a decision the matter of compulsory health insurance for California.

The directors discussed at length the proposition of joining the downtown Chamber of Commerce and also the matter of providing publicity material for the secretary to send out to inquirers for information about Ocean Beach. Action on both was postponed until a later meeting.

OCEAN BEACH SCHOOL NEWS

This week war stamp sales amounted to $176.60. Mrs. Johnston's fourth grade room was given two American flags for having the most children participating in the buying and for the largest amount sold.

Ocean Beach school was greatly honored this week when Fred Varney, a representative of the U. S. Forest Service, talked to the children of room 12. They had written to the service office for information on forestry as that is their social science subject. Mr. Varney told them about insect control and about the method and hazards of fire control. He gave the children two cork oak trees, locally grown, and seven Tara trees, natives of Peru, to plant in the school yard. The Tara trees are unusually decorative with their brilliant red pods and bright green foliage. These trees grow about one foot a year, he says.

The children in the morning Kindergarten had an Easter party, with colored eggs and "rabbit" cookies. They went to Mrs. Roll Keck's home on Thursday to color the eggs. On Friday their mothers came to school to share in the party.

New pupils in the second grade are: Patricia Sheridan, Danny Sears, Jo Nell Roberts, Ramona Manners, and Judith Parker. One day Jacques of the second grade brought a fairy tale book to school. Mrs. Anderson read the story "Jack and the Beanstalk" and the children played out the story. Harry was "Jack," Suzanne was "Jack's" mother, Robert V. was the giant. Jacques was the giant's cook, Danny was the cow, and Peter the old man. Patricia S. the hen and Jeannine the harp. For the gold a bag of marbles was used and chalk for the beans. Bobbie Sims was the play announcer.

Girl Scout Troop 120 Plans Hike Monday

Girl Scouts, troop 120, at their Tuesday meeting at Wallace Hall, planned a hike which they will take Monday, March 26. They will meet at the home of Mrs. Geo. Hart at 11 a. m. An Easter egg hunt and lunch will be features of the hike. Two new members have been added to the troop, making a total of 21, reports Scribes Nancy, Abbey and Marylou Ivey.

Lack Of Training In Home Blamed For Delinquency

Speaker At Kiwanis Says Recreation Will Help

Not much improvement in child delinquency can be expected in San Diego until the mothers are back in the home instead of in war plants, Dr. Richmond Barbour, director of guidance in the San Diego public school system told the Ocean Beach Kiwanis club Tuesday evening. His topic was "Problems of the Growing Child in a Growing San Diego." Bob Sharon was program chairman.

Though the number of arrests for child delinquency has not particularly increased here and though truancy from school is on the decline, school discipline is getting more difficult and there is a doubling of stammering in pre-school age children indicating increase in emotionally upset children, Barbour declared. He listed the following as the seven conditions that contribute most to child delinquency here:

1. Absence of mothers from the home.
2. Lack of a father in the home.
3. Loss of normal home restraints.
4. Lack of community recreational facilities.
5. Too much money in the children's pockets.
6. Large numbers of unattached uniformed males.
7. Racial conflicts.

While it is difficult to provide much remedy for the situation as long as the war is on, the speaker suggested that more recreational facilities, more activity on the part of character building agencies particularly the Boy Scouts and the Girl Scouts, better teenage centers and improvements in the activities of the public authorities.

Barbour also was somewhat pessimistic about the first few years immediately following the war. He said that children born during the war are not getting the normal home training that they should have and one result will be more child delinquency. He predicted, however, that as our homes return to normal living we will see a gradual decrease in such delinquency.

Visitors at the meeting were Walter Kramers of the San Diego club and Bob Fuller and Andy Anderson of the La Mesa club.

Father Phil Harris will be program chairman for next week's meeting.

Canvass Of Vote Gives Crary 3907, C. Schroder 1388

Official canvass of the vote cast in the primary election of March 13 gives Councilman G. C. Crary a total of 3907 votes and Carl Schroder, his leading opponent 1388. Semon T. Johnson polled only 457 and Alton H. Putnam only 314. All four were candidates for the city council in district number one.

In the general city election, to be held April 17, the entire city will vote on the various council nominees. The nominees for the council, also the total vote cast in their respective districts at the primary, as shown by the official canvass, are as follows:

District 2—Charles B. Winote, 2933; Carr Beebe, 1077.

District 3—Paul J. Hartley, 3714; Lewis Lipton, 635; William G. Watts, 475.

District 4—Ernest J. Boud, 1979; Richard A. Grihalva, 1621; George J. Laphorne, 1080.

The official count also revealed that there will be no need for a runoff election for the school board. Fred E. Lindley, the incumbent, won the election of March 13 in a close contest with Dr. S. J. McClendon. Lindley was officially credited with 13,979 votes or 73 more than he needed for a clear majority over McClendon, whose vote totaled 11,464. Harvey L. Lewis was high in the voting for school board and won a seat on the board, with a total vote of 16,289. The total of votes cast at the primary was only 27,310.

Methodist Church Announces Plans For Easter Week

The Point Loma Methodist church will observe Palm Sunday with special music by the choir and with a special trumpet duet by Myrl King, Mus. 2/c U.S.N. and Ray Arnold, Mus. 1/c U.S.N. Rev. James F. Roberts, pastor, will preach on the subject, "Who Is This?" Boys and girls will be admitted to church membership. Services will be held during Holy Week, beginning Wednesday at 7:30. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be observed Thursday evening, and the "Good Friday" service will be one of inspiration, announces the pastor. There will be special music by the choir at all services.

The sacrament of infant baptism will be observed at the church Easter Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock. All parents desiring to have their babies baptized are asked to phone Rev. Roberts, Bayview 5509.

Two Services Easter
For Easter the Methodist church will have two worship services Easter morning in order to accommodate the crowds. Both services will be the same, announces the pastor. The choir will sing special anthems at both services. The early morning service will be at 9 o'clock and the late morning service will be at 10:45 o'clock. He invites everyone to attend these services of inspiration.

IN THE SERVICE -

Master Sgt. Robert A. Frazer, 25, 4928 Coronado Ave., is home from the Central Pacific, where he was attached to a Marine air wing, and is at Camp Miramar awaiting re-assignment and furlough.

Ens. Ray "Skeeter" Malcolm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Malcolm of 4862 Voltaire St., is on duty with the Navy in the Southwest Pacific, having been sent out in January after training at Plattsburg, N. Y. He is a graduate of Point Loma High and also had attended State college.

All three Navy sons of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Lloyd of 2071 Froude St. are now in the Pacific. Lt. (j.g.) Everett S. Lloyd, who was home in January, has finished his training at Seattle and been assigned to duty in the South Pacific. He has been with the Merchant Marine since the war started. Also with the Merchant Marine is their son, Fred B., an engine room oiler. Fred left Frisco Thursday after a 30-day leave after a visit to his home here. He brought home a Japanese bicycle as a souvenir from his 10 months of duty in the South Pacific. The other son, Marvin L. Lloyd, AOM 3/c, who is a top turret gunner in the Navy Air Corps has been transferred from the East coast to the Hawaiian Islands for further training. Marvin was married Nov. 15 last to Betty Thornley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Thornley of 4612 Bermuda Ave. During his absence she is living with her parents here. Marvin wrote his mother to tell all his Ocean Beach friends "hello" for him.

Word came this week from the public relations officer of Davis-Monthan air field, Tucson, of the promotion to corporal of Pfc. Laird B. Swan, son of Editor and Mrs. F. F. Swan of The News. He is an instructor in remote firing control of the B-29s.

Frederick H. Kraft Jr., S 1/c son of Assemblyman Fred H. Kraft Sr., has been transferred to the Naval Training Center at Gulfport, Miss., where he is now enrolled as a radio technician trainee, the Eleventh Naval District announced today. A graduate of Point Loma high school, Bluejacket Kraft entered the Navy last June 28. He received his indoctrination at Great Lakes Naval Training center.

Lt. (j.g.) Mark B. Nelson Jr., 23, USNR, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Nelson Sr., of 2257 Froude St. is now serving as executive officer aboard an infantry landing craft (LCI) in the English Channel. He has been on active duty with the Navy since August 20, 1943. Lieut. Nelson's craft is one of a group of LCIs that has been continuously carrying troops from England to the continent since D-day.

Pt. Loma ROTC Team Wins Sixth Place In Matches

Pointers Qualify For Nation-Wide Shoot Of High Schools

The ROTC of Point Loma High ranked sixth among the 17 high schools in the West that placed in the high school division of the National Intercollegiate ROTC gallery rifle matches of 1945 for the 21 western states, according to reports from the commanding general of the Ninth Service Command of the Army at Fort Douglas, Utah, received by The News this week.

Polytechnic high school of San Francisco won top honors, with an aggregate of 3,725 points, for the firing period which lasted from January 1 to February 25. Forty high school teams participated.

Point Loma's team scored a total of 3,571 points which gave them sixth place for the high schools of the 21 western states. By stages their scores totaled 918 for the prone position firing, 885 for the sitting position, 912 for the kneeling position and 856 for the standing position. Targets were sent in to the Ninth Service Command headquarters at Fort Douglas, and when reviewed there showed the Point Loma team was entitled to 19 more points than the 3552 that had been totaled here.

While only the 10 highest scores for each of the four positions were entered in the competition, the following were the high 15 for the Point Loma team, as reported by Sgt. Clyde Harris, their instructor, the figures given being their individual totals for the four stages fired:

Del Thomas 372, Dill Wilson 371, Mike Murphy 359, Dale Clark 349, Herbert Peterson 349, Ray Sandoval 346, Bob Boxberger 342, Palmer Little 341, Frank Rippee 341, John Roche 340, John Nagayna 326, George Carter 317, Elbert Mitchell 313, Ralph Russell 307 and Jerry Garrison 272.

As a result of their high standing, the Point Loma team will now compete in the nation-wide matches for all the most expert high school rifle teams in the country. These finals are to be completed by April 19, reports Lt. Col. Allen Johnson, who is the regular army officer directing the ROTC departments of the three high schools of San Diego, Point Loma and Hoover.

Collection Of Used Clothing For War Needy Announced

Collection of used clothing for the peoples of the war devastated countries of Europe will start in Ocean Beach April 1, J. O. Tom Plant, chairman of the War Time Citizenship committee of the local Kiwanis club announced this week. A goal of 150,000,000 pounds for the entire country has been set and Ocean Beach along with all other communities of the nation is asked to do its part, he indicated. The clothing to be collected is to be shipped to the liberated countries of Europe.

Chairman Plant has made arrangements with various business houses, where barrels or other containers will be placed. All contributors are asked to place their donated clothing in one or the other of these containers. The clothing must be clean and it must be in good, wearable shape. Places designated by Chairman Plant are:

On Newport Ave.—Shaw's Furniture, Safeway, Market Basket, Lowmes Stores, Bank of America, Piggly Wiggly and Marc's.

On Sunset Cliffs Blvd.—Sunset Market, at Niagara Ave. and Texaco Service Station at West Point Loma Blvd.

On Voltaire St.—Dan Smith barber shop and Litterick's place. Corner Ebers & Muir Ave.—Ocean Beach Lumber Co.

On Bacon St.—Hilmen's store and Ocean Beach Cleaners.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Talcott of Joliet, Ill., visited Sunday afternoon with Miss Margaret Rankin in Ocean Beach. Mr. Talcott is vice president of the Gerlach-Barklow Co., and is out here to visit a son stationed temporarily at Camp Pendleton.

City May Get Mission Bay Area Without Cost

USO News . . .

The monthly joint meeting of Senior hosts, hostesses and Junior hostesses will be held Monday evening, March 26 at 7:30. Plans for the spring activities and the usual business matters will be discussed.

The Clubrooms have received a "face-lifting" in the form of new furniture and redecorating. Ocean Beach citizens are invited to see the improvements made in the "Home Away from Home," which they are helping to maintain for the boys and girls in service. Incidentally, when you stop in, make that recording to send to the loved one in service, say those in charge.

Lighting Postwar Home To Be Topic Monday Evening

"Lighting and the Postwar Home" and "Postwar Home Appliances" will be the subjects of the fourth weekly meeting of the Home Planners' Institute to be held Monday evening, March 26, at the Ocean Beach Elementary school, according to Frank Lockett, Institute manager. Speakers will be Carlton Thompson, lighting consultant for the San Diego Gas & Electric Co. and J. Clark Chamberlain, executive secretary of the Bureau of Radio and Electrical Appliances.

Attendance at the Institute is increasing, having reached 110 Monday night, reports Lockett. Fifty-seven attended the first meeting, he says.

Thompson will discuss the relation of lighting to home comfort, its decorative value and use in enhancing the beauty of the home. He will outline the lighting needs for each room of the house and will present various plans for meeting these lighting requirements. Thompson will also display various types of lighting equipment, including both fluorescent and incandescent.

Chamberlain talks on "Postwar Home Appliances" will stress the importance of appliances to modern home comfort, the necessity of planning wiring and piping, and types of appliances for various rooms of the home. Because Chamberlain is in constant touch with national appliance manufacturers, he is especially well informed on the latest developments and trends of modern appliances, Lockett revealed. His talk will be illustrated with drawings and photographs of postwar appliances recently released by manufacturers.

The home planning classes are free and are designed especially for both Ocean Beach and Mission Bay residents who are planning to buy, build or remodel a home after the war. The ten-lecture series features experts in the field of home construction, including architects, designers, interior decorators, plumbers, electricians, landscape architects, as well as men in the fields of home finance, building materials, and furnishings.

Mrs. Zeiler Dies Suddenly Sunday Evening At Home

Services were held Tuesday at Bradley Woolman funeral parlors for Mrs. Flora Zeiler, 71, widow of Frederick M. Zeiler, 4933 Santa Cruz Ave. Mrs. Zeiler had been a resident for the past eight years, coming here from Seattle where she had retired as a postal clerk.

Her funeral was attended only by close relatives and friends who tell of her sudden death Sunday evening. She grew rows of Calla lilies and wishing to give them to the Baptist church, had asked that the pastor call to get them, but soon perceived that she was too ill to be out. On being assisted into her home she died before medical aid could reach her—her last act thoughtfulness for the memorial services being held that evening for a departed soldier.

She is survived by a brother, Frederick F. Russell of National City and a sister Mrs. Grace A. Whitman of San Francisco. Her body will be taken to Kansas City, Mo., by her brother.

Ruling Of Attorney General Changes Title Picture

Mission Bay park area may be transferred by the state to the city of San Diego without cost, according to an opinion received Saturday by City Planning Director Glenn Rick from Robert W. Kenny, the state attorney general. Kenny holds that the area is under the jurisdiction of the state lands commission instead of the state park commission as had been supposed since 1929 when the movement for recreation of an improved park here first gained serious consideration.

Additional assurances of support for such transfer of title to the property were received by Rick last week from A. E. Henning, chief of the state division of beaches and parks, and from J. H. Covington, the division's executive secretary. An extra 1000 acres of upland bought by the park commission when it was believed to have the jurisdiction can likely be purchased by the city at its original cost.

Expect Aid From Kraft

Aid from Assemblyman Fred H. Kraft of Ocean Beach is expected in a bill to be introduced in the state assembly to provide for the title transfer to the city. Others expected to push the bill are Assemblyman Charles Stream and Assemblywoman Katherine Niehouse; and Senator Ed Fletcher is expected to introduce a similar bill in the state senate.

San Diego's already proved record for attracting tourists is a solid basis for expecting millions more to visit this area in the years to come especially if this national high in tourist attractions is brought to completion, according to Rick.

To Cost $10,000,000
Estimate on the total ultimate cost is $10,000,000. Much of the money must come from local sources in one form or another, with substantial federal aid regarded as likely. But the project will be one of the best investments available to San Diegans to provide direct, personal opportunity for enjoyment aside from its economic bearing, the planning chief declared.

With $2,000,000 for flood control, drainage and bridge construction, the project can be started. Preliminary to action toward bringing about the development, Mayor Harley E. Knox has invited 20 organizations to appoint representatives on an advisory committee to study Rick's plans and provide a long-range plan of financing.

On the advisory committee will be representatives of the San Diego Realty board, San Diego chamber of commerce, Mission Bay Park association, Mission Bay Yacht club, San Diego Yacht club, Zoo association, San Diego museum, county board of supervisors, Five Cees, harbor commission, state fish and game association, park commission, playground and recreation commission, San Diego Rowing club, Engineers' club, central labor council and Chambers of Commerce Ocean Beach, La Jolla and Pacific Beach.

Omega Button Shop Plans Name Change

Mrs. Josephine Carpenter reports this week that she has decided to change the name of her place of business on Bacon St. from Omega Button Covering Shop to that of Ocean Beach Babyland, the change being made to cover the numerous new lines of business she has added to her stock since opening the shop last year.

She was in Los Angeles on a buying trip two days this week.

Joe Mehling Hurt By Spear While Fishing

Joe Mehling, 18, 4930 Muir Ave., had the hard luck to have one leg pierced by a spear while he was fishing near the Bay bridge Friday evening. In flipping the spear with a rope he missed the fish and the spear came down and caught him in the leg.

GOD IS MY CO-PILOT

By COL. ROBERT L. SCOTT

WNU FROM LAST WEEK

SYNOPSIS

CHAPTER I: Scott's early experiences with gliders and airplanes. He goes to Ft. McPherson and enlists in the regular army as a private.

CHAPTER II: Scott wins the West Point competitive exam and gets a furlough before reporting. He is graduated as a second lieutenant of infantry and goes to Europe, where he tours on a motorcycle. He sells his motorcycle and army car.

CHAPTER III: Scott makes his first solo flight. Drives 1,200 miles to Georgia over every week-end to see his girl. Scott is now graduated from Kelly Field and has wings pinned on his chest. Ordered to report to Hawaii but wanting to get married he lays his plight before the general and is ordered to report at Mitchell Field, N. Y., instead.

CHAPTER IV: En route to New York Scott is stopped by police who mistake him for a bandit. He carries the mail for Uncle Sam in order to gain more flying time, and gets married.

CHAPTER V: The war edges closer and he is farther than ever from combat duty. He has been told he is too old for combat flying, and after December 7, 1941, he begins writing General's all over the country for a chance to fly a fighter plane.

CHAPTER VI: Scott solos a flying Fortress for the first time and makes twenty practice landings. He leaves for India from a Florida point.

CHAPTER VII: Easter Sunday in Africa. They fly along the Arabian coast and land at Karachi, India, covering 12,000 miles in eight days.

CHAPTER VIII: Col. Haynes orders the group to report at a base in Eastern Assam, on the India-Burma border.

CHAPTER IX: Burma is falling into the hands of the Japs. Flying over bombed and burned Chinese towns they land at Schwebo. Scott meets General Stilwell and his party.

CHAPTER X: Scott's group carries refugees out of Burma, heavily overloading the planes. He pays a visit to Gen. Chennault and tells him he is a fighter pilot and not a ferry pilot and is promised the next P-40 that arrives from Africa.

But as I say, at first we carried the terribly wounded, piling them in until the ship groaned and the door would hardly close. I always carried out fifty or more in this ship that had been designed for twenty-four, and one day I counted seventy-three getting out of one ship. A young pilot by the name of Lieutenant Sartz broke all records, as far as I know. One morning he took off with seventy-three, and on landing the British Customs counted seventy-four. En route over the Naga Hills a baby had been born, and now Sartz holds the world's record.

It was hot as hell flying the loaded transport off the fields in Burma. We'd try to fly with the windows open in the cockpit, but that created a suction that drew the air from the cabin up to where we pilots were. With those filthy bodies and the terrible stench of gangrenous wounds we couldn't bear it, and would have to close the side windows and just sweat. Sometimes the poor devils couldn't stand the trip and we'd have dead men aboard when we landed in India.

I remember one of the bravest men I have ever seen, who helped us load and control the refugees on the field at Myitkyina. He was a big, bearded Sikh officer, one of the aristocratic British colonials. He must have been six-foot-two, a fine looking man. He worked religiously with the refugees and soldiers, always efficient, always trying to send those out who should have gone. I can see him now, standing there in his tattered uniform, with his turban perfectly placed on his dark head, his beard waving in the wind from the idling propellers. He would patiently herd the passengers into the transport, sometimes holding hysterical people back physically, and in more crucial times pulling his pistol, but never becoming flustered or excited. I sometimes think he was the greatest soldier I have ever seen. Day after day, as the Japs moved North and ever closer to Myitkyina, he would be there, doing his thankless job.

When the end came, and I knew that the field would be taken in the next few hours, I went to him and explained the situation. I found, however, that he knew more about it than I knew myself. The refugees had told him, he said, and he knew this was the last day we could land there. So I asked him to get aboard my ship and leave for India; after all, he was an officer and could be used when once again the British entered Burma.

The Sikh officer refused with majestic pride. His orders had been to stay there and supervise the evacuation of those refugees, and he considered that trust sacred. We had to leave him, and when I last saw him he was herding the ever-increasing numbers of stricken people on to the North, towards Fort Hertz and the blind valley that led inevitably to the impassable mountains towards Tibet. I guess the Japs finally got him. But I know how he must have died, with that pistol in his hand, and finally just the knife—and I know that several Japs died before they killed him.

The Japs strafed Myitkyina the next day with heavy force and got two British transports that were on the ground. We had luckily decided that with the Japs eighteen miles to the South we could not risk our few planes, for they were needed for the run into China. From then on Myitkyina was an enemy-occupied field, but I managed later on to give it lots of hell with a fighter, and a fighter can dish it out.

The winds from the Indian Ocean grew stronger, and the monsoon season began. And oh boy, the rains came! The clouds built up so black and high and thick that you could no longer go around them or over them—you had to just get on instruments and bore through. In some ways, though, it was a relief—for there in the safety of God's elements the Japs couldn't bother our unarmed ships. Many times I heard the remark that there was always something good in everything—even bad weather. I can hear still some of those pilots griping, saying they never thought the day would come when they'd be out looking for bad weather. But it was the truth. With the Jap fighter ships all over Burma now, it was comforting to know that there were rain clouds to dodge into with the transports.

On April 26, the AVG finally had to leave Loiwing, due to the failure of the air-warning net to the South. They moved on back to Paoshan by Mengshih, and finally to Kunming. One day about that time I went over to see General Chennault, for I had a question I wanted to ask him—one that I'd carried on my mind ever since I'd been shanghaied off the "dream mission." I still wanted to fight. Though this Ferry Command was important, I'd been trained for a fighter pilot. And here I was, just sitting up there in a transport, like a clay pigeon for the Japanese.

I still remembered that for nine years I had been too young; then when war came I was suddenly told I was too old to be a fighter pilot. When had I been the right age? I wanted to tell General Chennault that story. At the great age of thirty-four, I just didn't consider that I was too old to fly fighter planes and with his help I meant to prove it. Even with only one fighter ship in the sky with our transports, I know I could give the boys in the transports just a little more confidence. Besides, I kind of thought I had a date with destiny, so to speak—or at least a date with a Jap somewhere over there in Burma. I desperately wanted to slide in behind one of those enemy bombers or fighters and shoot him down.

Finally I had my chance to tell the story of my ambitions to General Chennault. Busy as he was, he listened to my case, and even as I talked I admired the great man more and more. Here, I knew, was a great officer and leader as well as a great pilot. Here was an American who was a General in the Chinese Army, held by the Chinese in admiration and respect—a soldier who could see the problems that his modern war imposed on land armies as well as on navies and air power. Here, I knew, was genius.

I told the General that I wanted one single P-40 to use in India and Burma. I knew they were scarce, but I would promise him that nothing would happen to it, and the instant he needed the ship I would fly it back to him in China. The General smiled. I'm sure he was thinking back and wondering whether, if he were in my position, he wouldn't have begged for the same chance. He didn't give me some excuse that he well might have used—that the P-40's belonged to the Chinese Government, that it would have been against regulations, and so forth. General Chennault knew that I would use that "shark," as we called the P-40's, against the Japs. He made his own regulations then; what did it matter who killed the Japs and who used the P-40's so long as they were being used for China?

By the twinkle in his eyes I knew that I had won my case. The General said, "Some Forties are on the way from Africa now. You take the next one that comes through. Use it as long as you want to." That's the way I got the single fighter plane that was to work out of Assam.

With anxious eyes I waited, looking to the West for the next "sharks" to come to India.

Three P-40's or Kittyhawks came to us from Africa on April 29. Two went on to Kunming for the AVG, but Number 41-1496 stayed with me. It was mine, and I was as proud of it as of the first bicycle my father had given me. All through the night I read the technical files and learned every little item about the Allison engine and the engine controls. I memorized the armament section of the book, and by morning I was ready to put theory into practice and test it out.

That morning I found a painter. Buying red and white paint from the village, I had him paint the shark's mouth on the lower nose of the Curtiss Kittyhawk. On that afternoon of April 30, I remember that as I waited for the paint to dry, I walked round and round my ship, admiring the graceful lines, a feeling of pride in my heart. I gloried in the slender fuselage, in the knife-like edges of the little wings. The sharp nose of the spinner looked like an arrow to me—the nose that sloped back to the leering shark's mouth. At sight of the wicked-looking blast tubes of the six fifty-calibre guns in the wings, I felt my chest expand another inch. This was shark-nosed dynamite, all right—but even then I did not quite realize what a weapon this fighter ship could be when properly handled.

Gayle Elaine Flowers, five-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil D. Flowers of 2373 Seaside St. will be christened Sunday, March 25, at 11 a. m. at Brooklyn Heights Presbyterian church in San Diego, Rev. Dallas Turner officiating at a double christening ceremony. Diane Paula, young daughter of Captain and Mrs. R. P. Bresinski, U.S.M.C. will be christened at the same time. Mrs. Bresinski is a sister of Mrs. Flowers. Among the guests present will be the maternal grandparents of the babies, Fr. and Mrs. Stanley F. Schneider of 2336 Soto St., Ocean Beach.

WHAT'S BUZZIN' by CHERIE

Style Show Gossip— There was a huge turnout for the Veda Moss Style Show and entertainment Saturday evening at the Mission Beach community house. Seen among those enjoying the fun were the Charlie Parnells, Phil Sjöbergs, Hubert Rippes, F. H. Hendersons, Harry Polans, Flora Johnson, Al Hunt, Gregory Folds, Milton Lancasters, Lottie Bodendeck, Mrs. Saan and daughter, and of course, yours truly. Veda looked very trim in her navy blue outfit with the chic little lime straw sailor. Molly Morse, who, incidentally, looked a dream in that fuchsia and black creation, managed very nicely to keep the audience entertained between modelings. Scads of door prizes were given, and to add a bit of the unusual, both Marc Strauss and Nedra Polan had lucky numbers, and drew their own door prizes, and had to draw again! Slim Coats' repertoire once again stole the show, and believe me, the crowd was in "stitches"! Slim has a million dollars worth of personality, and he is just "guaranteed" entertainment any time! Caroline, (Slim's better half!) was stunning in her all black ensemble, topped off with a black Fisherman chapeau. Bert Howell, the magician, pulled some pretty fantastic tricks, but he couldn't pull his car out of the bay, where it had slipped during the performance! Ironical, isn't it? A party of ten assembled at the Coats' home in Crown Point for cocktails following the affair, and the evening was spent informally.

Here and There—

The Tom Plants have heard from Bill, after many months. He's at Iwo Jima.

A St. Patrick's Day card from Lt. Francis James Patrick Friel, wishing the likes of us a jolly holiday! Frank is stationed at Camp Fannin, Texas.

Sam Petcher was taken to Quintard Hospital late Sunday evening due to a kidney ailment. Cache of Sweets is still adding to their improvements! The latest is the new tile block flooring and the fluorescent lighting in the pie case. Look for booths in the near future.

The new building under construction next to Brauchler's Jeweler on Newport Ave., will be occupied by Dr. R. K. McLean and Dr. M. R. Eby.

Bookworm's Corner—

If you're a dog lover, you'll like Diana Thorne's Album of 60 drawings of "Dogs." Each plate is suitable for framing and the special binding makes it easy. It's an ideal gift for anyone who there in aviation mechanics.

DEAR MOM:
Well, here I am overseas, so far away from you,
And I've discovered many things that before I never knew.
I miss so many things you did through all my life for me,
I was too selfish, Mom of Mine,
and never stopped to see How tired you were from household care and favors I would ask;
You never whimpered, Mother
Dear, but took each added task.
War does things to a fellow, Mom,
when death steals up so near.
A man finds himself then counting the things that he holds dear,
And so I felt that I had to write these lines to you today
To tell you all the little things,
I never stopped to say.
I think about the cookie jar you kept filled to the rim
Each cake was an act of love
from Mom to satisfy my whim;
I see my little overalls with patches in the knees
I smell fried chicken, muffins and things as good as these;
I see the broken window pane, my ball upon the floor,
I hear your gentle reprimand
"sound in my ears once more
And if from war, I should return,
Oh Mom of Mine, I pray—
Teach me again those little things, you taught me yesterday—

The tables of troubles have been

"The Science of Clocks and Watches" by A. L. Rawlings, PhD. B. Sc. (London) will renew many times over for the time you spend reading it. Even the housewife, or bride, will find something of interest here because Mr. Rawlings tells how to select a reliable timepiece and how to get your money's worth.
It should prove of special interest to our local jewelers.

Betita Harding has written another delightful biography of perience books—Joe E. Brown's

"Your Kids and Mine," "Pilots

"Many a Watchful Night," by J. M. Brown. Another book of special interest to San Diego residents is "Where Away" by G. S. Perry. This book gives the graphic experiences of the "Mar-spent much time in San Diego.

"Story of the Secret State" by

Last week we had 36 dozen cookies, four birthday cakes and three dozen cup cakes. Several of our bakers are working on the Red Cross drive and that accounts for the drop in cookies. I do hope more women take up baking as it gives our boys such an uplift in spirit and can not get grease and sugar here at the Center without giving up your precious red points. This material of course must be made in cookies or cup cakes but the pleasure it brings the wounded boys repays you for your time. Remember they are in the hospital because they have fought for you and I and every American. Our debt to them is great.

Don't forget we want both
"Mother's Day" and "Easter" cards. Do hope each boy can send one home.

A picture suitable for a girl's room is badly needed as are vases of any size or kind. These are for the woman's ward at North Island.

If you have table or floor
lamps, good or bad condition,
please phone me at B-5639.
Rugs, large or small or throw rugs, are needed to fix up recreation rooms. Books, games, card tables, etc. are also urgently needed. Please help in collecting these articles.

Mrs. Able gave us one harmonica for our boy in the South Pacific, but musical instruments of all kinds are needed for an orchestra the boys are organizing at the hospital.

I know you hang onto some things because they are now hard to buy but they mean so much to Red Cross and after the war you can get better and more modern ones.

Articles for any Craft work are needed. Please phone or bring to 4769 Del Monte Ave. Remember
Wednesday is always "Cookie

AZTEC NEWS LETTER OUTSTANDING—

Former San Diego State College students now in service total 2710. Dr. Lauren C. Post, editor of the Aztec News Letter, a compilation of letters from and information about State College men and women in the armed forces, reports. Of this number, 77 have been killed, 29 are prisoners of war, 27 are missing, many have been wounded, several hundred decorated, and about half hold commissions.

The News Letter, a monthly publication sent to former State College students in service, was begun nearly three years ago as a mimeographed sheet and with a volunteer staff. Today it contains 16 or more printed pages each month and still is staffed by volunteers. Cost is met almost entirely by contributions and the mailing list has swelled to nearly 3000.

A tremendous amount of painstaking work has gone into this publication, for which Dr. Post and his staff are entitled to great credit. Few, if any, publications of the kind in the entire country will measure up to this outstanding piece of work.

HAVE YOU GIVEN—

The Red Cross has made good progress in the annual campaign to raise $200 million for its work of mercy.

A substantial part of California's $16 million quota has already been accounted for in the thousands of donations ranging from pennies of children to the more than $100,000 each given by Pacific Telephone Company, Bank of America, and Standard Oil Company.

Early results in the month-long drive should not lull any of us into believing that the full quota will be reached without our contributions. Every dollar we can spare is needed. The more we give, the better able will the Red Cross be to give aid to our sons, and husbands and brothers wherever they may be in serving our country.

Many a prisoner of war in a German or Jap prison camp has echoed the cry, "Without the Red Cross, we'd be sunk!" Yes, the Red Cross in its errands of mercy can penetrate the enemy lines and bring relief and assistance to our men who are held captive.

Giving all we can to the Red Cross is our duty. Let us give nothing less, and let us give it today!

WALKIE-TALKIE—

Reading like fiction but dealing with facts alone, is the report of the Federal Communications commission on electronic possibilities in civilian life after the war.

Though the commission is primarily concerned with new allocations of radio frequencies, the post-war promise of the walkie-talkie covers many pages of the 200-page review.

Just as pilots in the war zones today report verbally to general staffs on the ground, as tank talks to tank and to command officers miles away, civilians will communicate with each other from their homes, their offices and even from their cars on the highways and their helicopters in the air, in the years to come. Farm wives will talk with their husbands in the fields, and isolated ranchers, hunters and sailors at sea will find a new link with the world.

A decade or so ago the "portable" radio set weighed at least 500 pounds. Only a trunk could hold it. Today the equipment is easily moved about and refinements are making it even more practical.

The world, it appears, is narrowing down to a community close-knit by almost momentary communication. The walkie-talkie is one more modern proof that isolation is behind us.

"WORLD'S SMALLEST"

The title of "world's smallest aircraft worker" is claimed for Mildred Chapman by her fellow workers of the Ryan Aeronautical Company. Miss Chapman, four and a half feet high, installs weights in rudder parts on a jig especially cut down to her size in the Final Assembly department. Shown with her is Vivian Haywood. Ryan needs many more workers, large and small, to help fill the Navy's $58,000,000 order for Ryan fighting planes. Why don't YOU drop in at Ryan's downtown employment office, 1023 Fourth Avenue, and ask about the good Ryan jobs you could fill?

BREEZES

Let's Laff

Maybe Think

My secretary, being a lady, cannot take what I think of you. I, being a gentleman, cannot say it. You, being what you are, will understand what I should like to say.

My feet are sticking out of the covers. Why didn't you pull them in? I ain't putting those cold things in bed with me.

The gatekeeper at a famous race track took $1200—his life savings—out of the bank to help his nephew through an eastern college. When asked how he could afford that gesture, he smiled sheepishly. "Day in and day out," he explained, "I watch thousands of men bet on horses and lose their shirts. The way I figure it, a fellow might stand a chance to make a killing if he bets on a human being."—Fredrick Van Ryn.

Husband: "I wonder when you'll learn to make bread like mother used to make."
Wife: "Probably by the time you make the dough father used to make."

Clerk: "What kind of a toothbrush do you want?"
Customer: "Gib me a big one, Boss. Dar's 10 in mah fambly."

A chaplain preached a forceful sermon on the Ten Commandments, leaving one private in a serious mood. But eventually he brightened up. "Anyway," he consoled himself, "I never made a graven image."

A racketeer on trial for murder, bribed a juror with $100 to hold out for a verdict of manslaughter. After being out for a time, the jury returned the desired verdict.

"I'm grateful to you," the racketeer told the juror. "Did you have any trouble?"
"Yes," replied the juror, "I had a devil of a time. All the others wanted to acquit you."

At Sunday School a little brunette and little blonde got up and told how thankful they were to the Lord for their black and blue eyes and curly hair, etc. A little cross-eyed, freckled face girl got up and said: "The Lord pretty nigh ruined me."

I had no shoes and complained, until I met a man who had no feet.—Arabian proverb.

The man asked for a quart of gasoline. The attendant said: "What are you doing—wearing your car?"

SK1c: "I've heard your wife is a finished singer."

SK2c: "Well, not yet. But the neighbors almost got her last night."

A man can fail many times, but he isn't a failure until he begins to blame somebody else.

Returning to camp one evening, a two-star general couldn't produce his identification, and the rookie on guard refused to let him pass. Exasperated, the general leaned forward, pointed to the stars on his shoulder and bellowed, "Do you know what these mean?"
"Sure," popped the rookie. "You got two sons in the service."

His mother-in-law died while he was away from town, so the undertaker wired him: "Shall I from too. Daddy said so."

Easter Seal Sale
To Aid Crippled
Children Starts

The public's cooperation in an expanded program which will increase facilities and services of the Society for Crippled Children of San Diego County Inc., will be sought in the annual Easter Seal sale which began this week.

"Buy Easter Seals—Spread Happiness Among Crippled Children!" is the slogan adopted for the campaign. William H. Evans, president of the society, announces.

There will be no direct solicitation, he said. Instead, sheets of Easter seals have been mailed to thousands of persons in the San Diego area which is served by the society. The recipients are asked to purchase the colorful little stickers, which cost only a penny apiece. However, there is no limit to the amount anyone may wish to contribute to the society's work.

Total treatments given by the society last year, Evans reported, were 6,146. These included pool treatments, 2,346; hot packs, 1,340; baking, muscle training and massage, 1,697.

"The purpose of the Society," Evans added, "is to provide every boy or girl who is blind, deaf, crippled or otherwise physically handicapped, with the care and treatment that will aid the child to become an asset to the community instead of a liability."

Mrs. Anna Hobson
Dies At Age 62

Mrs. Anna S. Hobson, 62, who had resided at 4643 Santa Cruz Ave. for the past 13 months, died in a San Diego hospital Friday and was buried in Glen Abbey cemetery on Saturday afternoon. She had been ill since December 6 last. The services were conducted in Bonham Bros. chapel by Rev. Thomas L. Coyle of the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Hobson was born Nov. 15, 1882 in Boston and had lived in the Panama Canal Zone for 25 years. Later she lived at Ann Arbor, Mich., and Dallas, Texas, and came to California about two years ago. She came here from Oxnard, Calif., to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Eleanor H. Harvill of 4643 Santa Cruz Ave.

Bereft besides the daughter here are a son, William Hobson, and a daughter, Mrs. C. J. Cusack, both of whom are living in the Panama Canal Zone. One brother, who lives in Pennsylvania, also survives.

embalm or bury her?" He wired back: "Take no chances, cremate her."

Pastor: "Good morning, May. I hear God has seen fit to send you two little twin brothers."

Little May: "Yes, sir, and He knows where the money's coming from too. Daddy said so."

Mr. and Mrs. Zorn Zeddie of 4944 Niagara Ave., entertained friends from San Francisco this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bromby of 1770 Hornblend St., Pacific Beach, announce the birth of a boy last week. They have named him Robert Harry. Mrs. Bromby is the former Jean Blake who made her home with her parents at 4247 Mentone St.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reich of Palmdale, Calif., spent several days last week visiting Jack's mother, Mrs. Edith Reich, and his aunt, Miss Zola Hickox of 4721 Newport Ave. Jack has been employed for several years by the Civil Aeronautics Authority but during his free time off the job, being air-minded, he is assisting at the newly designated civilian airport. This was Mr. and Mrs. Reich's first visit here this year, although they spent last Christmas here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Tancill of 3446 Victory St., became parents of a girl, born March 16.

E. P. Newton of 4677 Niagara Ave., is in the Paradise Valley hospital recovering from an operation.

Mrs. Jayne Butts, a "gay young" lady is ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. L. Dewees, 4631 Pescadero Ave.

Mrs. Lee Medley of 4844 Muir Ave., will entertain the ladies of the Church of Christ Wednesday noon with pot-luck luncheon and a short business session. During the afternoon they will continue their "visitation" program in the Frontier Housing Project. Several teams, two ladies to each team, visit each week at homes where a cheerful word and help may make a stranger here feel he has friends in his nearby neighbors.

Do You Want A Ride?—Mr. Wolf of 4788 Pescadero Ave. would like to have three riders share the ride with him to and from work. He leaves here at 7 a. m. and would gladly go some out of his way to pick up passengers if necessary. He leaves San Diego about 5 p. m. Anyone interested may contact him by calling F-4156 during business hours or B-7054 evenings.—Adv.

Mrs. Eleanor Flint of Los Angeles arrived here this week to make her home with her son, Donald at 1665 Froude St.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Cavanaugh, 4448 Brindisi St., are announcing the birth of a daughter, born March 14 at Paradise Valley hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Booth of 4438 Craig St., welcomed a son into their lives, March 6 at Mercy hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Tovia Maki, 3636 Valiant St., also became parents of a boy March 16 at Mercy hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Clavert, 4467 Muir Ave., entertained Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Moore and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Rhodes Sunday evening at a buffet supper, with cards topping off a pleasant evening.

Mr. and Mrs. James Oliver, 1862 Cable St., returned Thursday after a week's vacation in Los Angeles and vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Collins, 4684 Saratoga Ave., spent Wednesday in Los Angeles on business.

MARCH BIRTHDAY PARTIES

HELD AT NURSERY SCHOOL

Six little folk, members of the Mother Goose school, 2133 Chatsworth Blvd., celebrated their birthdays this month in the traditional manner that Mrs. Meta Bruce, school director, helps her little charges have the kind of a birthday they will long remember. Decorations for all the parties this month were of spring colorings, with gay, colored bows tied to each chair. Each child is given the privilege of cutting his or her own cake. Jackie Falkenthal, 4735 Lotus St., celebrated his sixth birthday on March 13. On March 16 Michael Cottrell, son of Mrs. Eileen Cottrell and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Boque, 2414 Seaside St., became six years old. Little Pepita Abbey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Abbey, 4430 Long Branch Ave., was guest of honor at her fifth birthday party March 16. Twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer John Harter, Marber Kay and Florence Jean, of 3216 Bradman Dr. were four years old Tuesday, March 20. Dickie Bartlett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Bartlett, 3018 Upshur St., Point Loma, will celebrate his 6th birthday next Monday. Thirty children attended all parties, enjoying the luncheon before the festivities.

Track Meet Party Set For Tonight At Local Church

In keeping with the sport season, the senior members of the Methodist "Youth Fellowship" have been planning as this evening's fun and fellowship, a party to be given at the Point Loma Methodist church, with a track meet as the theme. Entitled the "Inter-Collegiate Track Meet". The evening's events include "high jumping, high and low hurdles, boys 100 yard dash, shot-put" and various other "track" activities.

Working hard on the cute decorations, using the names of the four "colleges" "Ya-hoo, Wa-hoo, Yoo-hoo and Boo-hoo," are Gloria Alvarado and her committee, Bill Stone, Darline Gardner, Bob Pastore, Bill Sharpe and Carleton Bingham. Invitations in the form of an entry blank were made by Dottie Shepherd. The evening's events were planned by Marjorie Mishler, with Mrs. J. F. Roberts assisting. Refreshments of hot dogs, cakes and popcorn are planned by Anne Carmod and Arita Winston.

Bank Managers Get Information On Vet Loans At Meeting

At a meeting Tuesday evening of Bank of America branch managers representing the San Diego county group the procedure for handling vet-loan plan, small business loans and aircraft financing were presented, reports Rollin E. Reed, manager of the bank's Ocean Beach branch, who attended the conference at San Diego.

The principal speakers on the program were A. J. Gock, vice chairman of the bank's board of directors, and E. A. Mattison, executive vice president, who clearly outlined to the group the policy of Bank of America benefits of the G. I. Bill.

Bank of America has the distinction of having made the first business loan and the first real estate loan on an existing residence in Southern California under the terms of the GI Bill. The bank was one of the first in the South to make a loan for the construction of a new house under the GI Bill regulations. Through group meetings branch managers and officers share the benefits of the practical experience gained in processing veteran loans.

BANNER ATTRACTIONS SET FOR LARRY FINLEY'S NEW MISSION BEACH BALLROOM

Four banner attractions on his new Mission Beach ballroom program for Saturday and Sunday evening are announced by Larry Finley. For continuous dancing he has booked Horace Heidt's former trumpet star, Short Sherock and his orchestra. Another nationally famous headliner will be the blind whistler, Fred Lowery who also won fame with Horace Heidt's Brigade and on the major radio networks, to eventually be honored on Philco "Radio Hall of Fame." These attractions will be augmented with the distinctive song stylist, Dorothy Rae and a versatile vocalist, Gene Walsh. Sharing bandstand honors with Shorty Sherock will be Paul Martin and his "Romantic Rhythm Ensemble" and in the entertainment spot will be the inimitable one and only Sally Rand in a streamlined version of her world famous fan dance.
